CONTENT RESEARCH AND SOURCING

Mashadi's Braids is a small hair-braiding business that provides hair-braiding services to customers who are interested in different styles of braids. The proposed website will provide customers with useful information about the business, its services, available hairstyles, pricing, booking procedures, and contact information.

Research will be conducted to collect accurate and relevant information that can be used throughout the website. The information will be gathered from the business owner, existing business information, social media platforms, and original content created specifically for the website.

The research will focus on understanding the services offered by Mashadi's Braids, the needs of its customers, and the type of information customers require before booking a hair appointment.

Mashadi's Braids does not currently have a dedicated website. Therefore, there is no existing website content to use as a starting point. The proposed website will be developed with original content based on information supplied by the business owner and research conducted for the project.

Mashadi's Braid does have a TikTok and Facebook profile by the name of Mashadi M on TikTok and Mashadi Mokgalaka on Facebook. The types of hairstyles offered are only knotless braids, goddess braids, and knotless twists. There are prices advertised on the page along with a picture of the type of hairstyle to give more clarity to the customers. The social profiles have both email and phone number of Mashadi's braid to set up an appointment. The feedback is written in the comment section by the existing customers.

Images and other visual resources will be required to make the Mashadi's Braids website attractive and informative. Where possible, original photographs of hairstyles and the business will be used because they provide authentic representations of the services offered. Where additional images, icons or fonts are required, resources with appropriate free-use or Creative Commons licenses will be selected from reputable sources. The license and usage requirements of each resource will be checked before it is included on the website. A record of the sources used for external images, icons, and fonts will be maintained for reference.

Original content will be created specifically for the Mashadi's Braids website. This will include descriptions of the business, hair-braiding services, available hairstyles, booking information, contact information and other relevant website content.

The service descriptions will clearly explain the different hairstyles offered and provide customers with information that can assist them in choosing a suitable hairstyle. Original photographs may also be used to showcase the work of Mashadi's Braids.

All original content will be reviewed to ensure that it is accurate, clear, professional, and appropriate for the target audience.
